From the Director

Tayla Simpson

A cabaret about love on Valentines? How Cliché. Yes! What a perfect word to describe everything about this show. Epic: Love Stories was my chance to play up those stereotypes, those sappy tropes we all know (and love). The world has far too much doom and gloom as of late, I can't think of a better time than now to indulge those silly fantasies and give free reign to those feelings you get when you watch a Rom-Com. Let go of your inhibitions, relish the butterflies you might feel in your tummy and don't take life too seriously, just for tonight.

For over a decade Tayla has directed, choreographed and performed for several theatre companies across Southeast Queensland. She holds a Bachelor of Creative Industries from the University of the Sunshine Coast and when not treading the boards herself, she can be found hosting trivia at several pubs and clubs throughout Brisbane. Her latest credits include dual Direction and Choreography for & Juliet (BTG), Choreographer for Evil Dead the Musical (Ghostlight Theatre Co.), numerous burlesque cabaret productions; and dual direction and choreography credits for Avenue Q in 2023 (BTG). This is Tayla's third time choreographing for Vox Theatre Arts, and she wants to thank Rhona for the countless opportunities.
